Mr. F. D. Schunck,

Dear Sir:

May I thank you and all other members of the M.R.A.C. for so promptly coming to my aid.

Mr. Dionne phoned me Friday last and arranged to give me the needed help. In fact, he came over that evening to give me my first instruction. Such prompt action can only advertise the wide gulf between the true amateur and those people whom heretofore I had been so misinformed were amateurs.

Mr. Schunck, there is another matter which Mr. Dionne unconsciously called to my attention- that is that I made a statement in my previous letter which might easily be misconstrued. Re- the request that an "intelligent" Member undertake to teach me the code. It was not until Mr. Dionne spoke to me that I realized that I was offering an insult to the club at large. Let me assure you that such was not my intention. I meant that I desired someone who would plan my course of instruction for me and who would also be willing to cope with a hopelessly uninformed beginner a "lid" I believe they are called.

In view of the misunderstanding which I believe exists will you, Mr. Schunck, present my apologies to the members of the club?

Sincerely Yours,

Robert E. De Land.
